Regarding Mrs. Marilyn Mason:

One way to get my attention is to talk with me about the gospel or about Haiti. Both are dear to my heart: one speaks of my eternal home in the presence of the Lord; the other will forever remain my former earthly home where I first saw the light of life.

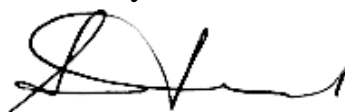

Over the past 15 years, one particular person has been able to do just that. She has her spiritual roots deep in the gospel message and her life, dreams and emotions are carried away to the land and the people of Haiti.

To put it bluntly, Marilyn Mason is an American by birth, a Christian by faith, and a Haitian by heart. Her keen interest in the Haitian people and her sacrificial efforts to bring the gospel to them in a language of their own would put many diaspora Haitians to shame, those for whom Haiti is but a memory of the past.

Marilyn's concern is not just for Haitians "down there" but also for those "over here", and in many instances she has opened the door of ministry to them.

I trust that the Haitians she will meet along her way will soon make the same discovery and I would encourage all her friends to stand behind her as she tries to fulfill God's sacred calling in her life.

Sincerely,

Sol Védrine
